

Dr. Price's CREAM BAKING POWDER

For sixty years Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder has been the standby of countless housekeepers who have relied upon it for healthful, home-baked food.

Dr. Price's contains no alum or lime phosphate. There is never any question about the absolute purity and healthfulness of the food it raises.

COUNTY AND STATE

Neighborhood News of the Past, Present and Near Future

Dr. A. E. Van Antwerp, who has done much practice in this part of the county in the past few years as veterinary surgeon, died at his home in Brookfield on Wednesday of last week at the age of 53 years.

The wedding of Miss Georgia Thompson and Mr. Howard Waterson, two of Sumner's well known and popular young people, has been announced, the happy even to take place some time in June.

Gazette: Mrs. Walter Brownlee was elected president of the board of managers of the state industrial home for girls at Chillicothe at the meeting of that board last Wednesday. Mrs. Brownlee is the first woman chosen to that position.

Several democratic papers of this part of the state are "mentioning" Joseph W. Folk as the strongest candidate the democrats can nominate for governor next year. These papers realize that if their party wins in the next state election it must be on some previous record the party has made and not on the record of the Wilson or Major administration. Sensible boys.

The Brookfield Daily Argus says that at a brief congregational meeting after the morning service Sunday the Presbyterians by unanimous vote increased the salary of Dr. W. C. Atwood, pastor, two hundred dollars per year. The financial condition of the congregation is said to be beyond question the best in its history, and the loyalty of its membership an example worthy of imitation.

In the new library building which is now being completed at the University of Missouri, one room will be set aside for the use of assistant librarians who send out books to the people of the state. Missourians may write to the librarian and borrow any book or books in the university library, except reference or fiction. More than one hundred thousand volumes will be available. Books will be sent either direct or to libraries which will lend them to individuals.

Some Evening Reveries

One of the fashionable sins of the present time is the sin of idleness. This may not apply to the "club laddies" of our town, but this evil exists to an alarming extent, especially so in larger cities, where competent ladies flit away time as if there were no claims upon them in busy marts of life. There are persons whom the stress of circumstances compel to work, but the work is too often done under protest. There is a growing distaste for housekeeping. While all honest labor is honorable there is nothing more so than the care of the home.

The rods of rancid rot daily printed in the big city papers about the vulgar rich, their sayings and doings; their comings and goings; what they eat and how they eat it; what they drink and how much of it; what they wear and how, when and where they wear it; minute write-ups, with pictorial illustrations of every dud worn by brain-less women, full description of every garment, including the embroidered and hemstitched clothes, prepared before-hand for the unborn brats—all their fulsome nauseous stuff, drooled out daily in the big papers—by the column and by the whole page—a sort of gross pandering to riches—a servile worship of snobocracy; a putting of the forehead to the ground when the money moloch passes down the street, does more to stir up the devil in a man than all else combined. This sort of man worship may go all right in countries where one man is acknowledged to be better than another, but it will never go in this land of the free and the home of the brave; and the sooner the big papers let up on this daily flouting of money in the faces of decent people, the quicker all sorts of devilishness will cease to be a menace to our government.

A man or a woman may lead a life of honesty and purity, battling bravely for all they hold dearest, so firm and sure of the rightness of their life that they never think for an instant of the diabolical ingenuity that makes evil and evil report where naught but good really exists. A few words lightly spoken by the tongue of slander, a significant expression of the eyes, a cruel shrug of the shoulders, with a pursing of the lips—and then friendly hands grow cold, the accustomed smile is displaced by a sneer and she stands alone and aloft with a dazed feeling of wonder at the vague, intangible something that has caused it all.

The old man may not recall all the experiences, all the struggles and triumphs of his early manhood, but every feature of his childhood home, every little playhouse that he helped his sister to build, is a photograph on his heart's tablets and can never fade away. Perhaps the golden light of eternity will not dim the brightness of that picture. What else the heart may forget, it cannot forget the place of its birth; it cannot forget the little broken cart, the sled and the kite, the sister's fond caress, the brother's generous aid, the father's counsel, the mother's anxious prayers.

One of the best and brightest things we can give, is kind words. They have well been likened to the bright flowers of earth's existence. Use them everywhere, but especially around the fireside; they will make a paradise out of a hovel. Nothing can heal a wounded heart, or cheer a crushed spirit like kind words. Let us not be so careful how we use them, for they are the greatest blessing earth can give.

Money in a Missouri farm is safer and surer than bags of gold in the bank of England, at Berlin or Paris. Money loaned on Missouri land has the best security on the planet—in safety and stability it ranks next to and first below the rustless and robberless treasures laid up in That House Not Made With Hands. Foreign bonds and domestic stocks pale in point of profit and permanency compared to money planted in a Missouri farm.

The Missouri maiden in May-Time is the sweetest and fairest flower in the wide world's garden of charms—the May Girl whose glorious graces thrill and enthrall as she fills the land with joy and gladness and brings us the June wedding and its month of radiant roses. Without the May Girl there'd be no joyous June with its bankruptcy of brilliant beauty!

Finally Relieved by the Old Reliable Thedford's Black-Draught.

Traverse City, Mich.—Mrs. J. W. Edwards, of this town, says: "I suffered for about 18 years with liver trouble, and doctored with many different remedies.
